

Advance Care Training can offer a number of smaller qualifications linked to the Qualification credit framework (QCF). If the candidate wishes to continue their studies the credits gained can be used towards a full diploma.

Award: 1-12 credits, available in the following subjects at levels 2/3:

- Awareness of Dementia

This qualification consists of 4 units resulting in 8 credits, and is available to both people working with individuals with dementia, who have not yet completed any training in this subject. Or for people are interested in working with this service user group.

The course will consist of classroom based learning over 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ days with an expectation that the learner will complete some self directed study

- Supporting individuals with learning disabilities

This qualification consists of a minimum of 3 units resulting in 12 credits and is available to both people working with individuals with a learning disability, or an interest in working with this service user group.

This course will consist of classroom based learning with some self directed study.
